

Bradley Parks

Mr. Parks spends a considerable amount of time contributing to the belief that life should be a balance of family, community and profession. At home in Naperville, Brad is married to his wife, Katelyn, and the proud father of their two-year old son Anthony.

In the community, Mr. Parks has taken an active role in several organizations including the junior board of the 100 Club of Chicago and the Auxiliary Board of the Joffrey Ballet. In 2006, Brad earned Level 5 coaching designation from USA Hockey and has coached various high school-aged teams in the Chicagoland area.

Professionally, Brad has over a decade of financial service experience since joining Read Wealth Management Group currently at UBS, in 2003. With a special focus towards financial planning, insurance needs and charitable giving, Mr. Parks holds, the series 3, 7, 66 and Illinois state insurance licenses as well as, the Chartered Financial Consultant® designation, which has the most extensive educational program required for any financial services credential.